Dear Jeik Sohn,

Welcome, and thank you for your kind support to keep this program growing worldwide. Trees for the Future's program is now your program!

Your support comes at a time when the number of requests for help continues to rise dramatically. Your program is responding to these many requests and helping hundreds of communities to plant millions of trees.

The Central American program is reaching communities in several countries. It is assisting a massive collection of projects throughout Honduras, and in Belize, the program is establishing a tree seed orchard that will serve as a source of high-quality trees seeds for projects around the region.

The program in Asia is expanding quickly as new communities join the tree planting efforts. The projects in India continue to assist tsunami-affected communities to reforest degraded lands, and the program in the Philippines, now concentrated in the Zambales mountains, will soon start major projects on the island of Panay.

About 60% of all new projects are in Africa, where tree planting programs in Senegal, Ghana, and every country in East Africa are planting well-over a million trees every year to increase the productivity of sandy farmlands and to protect lands from desertification.

We will keep you up to date on what your worldwide program is accomplishing through the newsletter, e-newsletter, and web page. By passing this information on to others, hopefully you can help the program grow further.

Sincerely,
R. Grace Deppner, Administrator
